MARINA BUZZ

February 2016

Happy Valentine's Day!

Greetings!

This past week of Valentine's celebrations has felt more like springtime than the middle of February. People are walking around in their short-sleeved shirts and some are even washing their cars!! But March is right around the corner, typically one of our snowiest months, so don't pack away that ski gear just yet. Things are just getting good in the mountains!

From the Helm

Any guesses on how Bob spends his time each winter? A relaxing yoga retreat, you ask? Or possibly trekking through the Swiss Alps? Well, you can stop losing sleep over it. Here he is to answer that question and more in this month's From the Helm.

The Sport of Ice Fishing

Have you ever looked out across a frozen lake to see a group of people staring through a hole in the ice with fishing poles in their hands? Have you ever wondered to yourself, "why on earth would they want to do something like that?"

Well, turns out, these people are actually normal...and part of the quickly growing sport of ice fishing. We asked Nate with Big Ed's Fishing what the excitement was all about and he was kind enough to share some of his expertise with us here.

Customer Spotlight

We tend to think our customers are some of the most adventurous in the world. Living and playing at almost 10,000 feet says something about us as people. So, after summer comes to an end, many of you set off on amazing winter adventures. That is certainly true of our friends Barry & Carrie Rauff, residents of D Dock at the Dillon Marina. They rarely sit still for long and are inviting us to share in their adventures here. If you would like to share some of your travels with our readers, please submit your stories and we'll include them in an upcoming Marina Buzz.
